PLAYER'S GUIDE

ROULETTE

HISTORY & STORIES

Roulette is probably the best known and most popular game of chance. Numerous stories, movies and fantasies revolve around this game, which is actually quite simple – after all, it's just a case of guessing which number the ball will land on It's just as easy as it is exciting to be part of the action when the ball starts rolling!

The origins of the game

The origin of roulette is often attributed to French mathematician Blaise Pascal – but incorrectly. It is generally assumed that 17th-century Italy was the country of origin. In Meyer's Encyclopaedia, Big Roulette is referred to as Italian Roulette at around the year 1900. The actual roots of roulette can probably be found in the medieval wheel of fortune.

Developments

Roulette arrived in France, where Louis XV tried in vain to ban it, during the 18th century. In 1806, Napoleon Bonaparte allowed the game of chance only in the gaming houses of the Palais Royal in Paris. The rules for today's game essentially developed in France. The croupier launches the ball on the wheel against the direction of rotation. Bets may no longer be placed after the announcement "No more bets please." The rules of the game are almost identical worldwide.

Famous

The attempts to ban the game may have been one aspect that helped it gain such prominence. From Russian author Dostoevsky, who fell for the game of roulette and wrote his novel "The Gambler" about it, all the way to films in which the roulette wheel spins. People find roulette quite fascinating. Physicist Stephen Hawking put it like this: "All the evidence shows that [...] the universe is a great casino, where [...] roulette wheels spin on every occasion."

IMPORTANT TERMS

Playing area

The playing area consists of a cloth with lines, numbers, words and symbols. The names are in English. The numbers on the playing area are clearly arranged from 0 to 36 or also 00 to 36.

Wheel

Forming the heart of the roulette table, the wheel is divided into 37 or 38 fields from 0 or 00 to 36. The numbers are not arranged in arithmetic order and are positioned alternately on red and black fields.

Place your bets, please

The croupier opens the game by announcing “Place your bets, please”. You place your chips on your chosen odds in the playing area. The croupier will be pleased to place them for you if you wish.

No more bets

The croupier launches the ball on the wheel against the direction of rotation. Bets may no longer be placed after the announcement “No more bets, please”.

Prize display

The dolly – a small figure made of metal or glass – is used to indicate winning numbers in roulette.

Prizes

As soon as the ball lands in a number pocket, both the winning number and the winning colour are called out. Any bets related to this number are paid out.

Zero/Double zero

As with any other number, you can also win with zero/double zero, of course. The only difference is that zero and double zero are not assigned to a dozen, a column or simple bet and bets in these areas are withdrawn.

Party Roulette is a new variant of the game of roulette. Guests can bet on 38 winning numbers. Typical of Party Roulette is the double zero (00) directly above the zero (0) and the modern coloured halo wheel with stylish colour effects.

EASY ROULETTE

Easy Roulette is played at special gaming Terminals that can be easily operated via touch screen.

Game

Make yourself comfortable and enjoy the game undisturbed. Easy Roulette is American Roulette or Party Roulette, which is played via touch screen. The screen shows the playing area, where you can place your bets by the touch. After you have “fed” the gaming station with a game card or bank notes, the screen displays your balance under “Credit”.

Bets

The game starts with the electronic announcement: “Place your bets, please.” You place your bets by touching the area with the desired odds. For example, if you want to bet on “13”, simply touch the field displaying “13”. The nice thing about Easy Roulette is that you can also play with small bets. You can easily vary the value of the bet using the multiplier button. The second electronic announcement, “No more bets” advises you that the period for placing bets is over.

Automated Electronic Roulette

The winning number is determined with a roulette wheel located directly at the gaming stations. The ball is not set in motion by a croupier but blown into a special air wheel using air pressure.

Prize display

After the ball has dropped into the number pocket, a spoken message announces the winning number and all the winning fields are highlighted in colour. Your prize is shown by animation and credited to you in the “Credit” field.

Finishing the game

If you want to finish the game, simply remove your card.

If you have any questions, simply press the info button or contact our staff, who are always pleased to assist.

HOW MUCH OF A TIP (“TRONC”) SHOULD I GIVE?

With the glamorous surroundings, fascinating people, legendary games and outstanding culinary fare, a visit to the casino is sure to be unforgettable.

As in all upscale casinos worldwide, it is customary to leave the croupier a small share of your winnings at Casinos Austria – entirely at your own discretion, of course. To do so, you’ll find a slot on every gaming table for the “cagnotte” or “tronc”. The tip is shared among our employees on the basis of a collective and company agreement.

We look forward to your visit. And don’t forget: our floor manager is always there to assist if you have any concerns or personal requests.
